My favorite university teacher

Where does the path of the great scientists who are changing this world begin? Who lays the foundation for the grandiose discoveries of physicists, chemists, programmers who turn the minds of modern people? The answer is very simple: the work of talented professors of higher education. After all, a professor is not only a person who lectures and conducts practical classes. A professor is a mentor and assistant of a student on the difficult path to getting the knowledge and skills that will be useful in the future professional life of a young specialist.

Each of us had such a teacher at the university with whom we had fond memories of this period. Perhaps this person was distinguished by a high level of competence or he was an example of purposefulness and perseverance. As for me, I'd like to tell you about the teacher who instilled in me a love for such a complex and multifaceted science as chemistry. My favorite teacher is Alexander Yurievich Osetrov, associate professor of the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Technologies. He has always been an example of a first-class specialist, a hardworking and positive mentor for me. While still a schoolgirl, I got into a joint project with Alexander Yurievich and this determined my future path, namely, admission to TSTU in the direction of "Chemical Technology" and passion for science.

In conclusion, I'd like to say that it is the teachers who lay not only the scientific and material basis, but also the views and guidelines of the student in the further professional path.

How I became a TSTU student

Once upon a time there was a young princess. The girl lived her years carefree, there were no problems in her life. One day a big and scary ogre came to the princess, he said: "Hello, beautiful. My name is Unified State Exam. If you can't beat me, then I'll eat you."

And so the heroine began to think how she could outwit the evil monster. The girl decided to fight the monster with the help of her knowledge. The princess began to go to smart people, they shared their experience with her. So, the heroine plunged headlong into her studies. The beauty studied mathematics and physics for a whole year. For a whole year, the princess worked very hard. The girl shed a lot of tears because she dreamed of defeating the evil ogre. So, the princess came to the exam. On that day, many beautiful ladies and young people gathered in a large strong castle. All of them were assigned numbers, their documents were checked, and they were taken to spacious rooms. A month later, a pigeon flew to the heroine with good news – the girl passed the exams for high scores. Later, the king presented the lady with a gold medal and gave parting advice – to enter the Tambov State Technical University. "This university will give you a high-quality education, and after that you will become a sought-after specialist in your field," he said with a smile on his face.

So the princess became a law student. This is the end of the fairy tale.

How I became a TSTU student

There comes a moment in every person's life when they enter the university. From the first days of study, a student begins to feel the onset of a new chapter in his life, these are student years that form and seal certain moral values in a person.

I entered the university this year and am just starting to get used to student days. Despite the short training period, I was able to join a new team, be acquainted with wonderful, friendly and cheerful classmates, but also perform on stage again. In early September, I joined the Codex cheerleading team. At first, it was unusual and scary for me to engage in a new injury-prone sport, but as soon as we had a new line-up on stage, all fears disappeared, and there was even more desire to work, develop and improve my skills. I consider this the highlight of my student life, because thanks to the new team, I met new friends, was able to try myself in another sport and feel a sense of victory and pride not only for my efforts, but also for the well-coordinated and fruitful work of the whole team.

In conclusion, I would like to add that after all, student years are the brightest time in a person's life. After all, it is at this time that new opportunities open up for the student to realize his abilities and talents. Studentship is the very time when we can surrender to feelings, feel experiencing and make the first serious mistakes. The lessons of student life will forever remain in the memory of every person.

How I became a TSTU student

Choosing a university is one of the most significant events in the life of any teenager, since he will no longer be a schoolboy, but a student who already independently determines his future profession. It was also an important decision for me, and I made the right decision by deciding to enter this university.

I have always been attracted to the topic of computers and programming, and that is why I chose the technical university of my hometown. At first, I was getting used to the new environment, to my fellow students, new teachers, with whom I was not familiar at that time. But in the first few days I was amazed at what TSTU could offer me as a student. Events were organized to rally the students who joined, performances where we were told about various student clubs and groups. I wanted to take part in everything because it's a great opportunity to make new acquaintances and try something new. In addition, the teachers, who have always been friendly, helped with socialization at the university, and they really love their disciplines, which makes their lectures very exciting.

And now more than 6 months have passed since the beginning of my studies at TSTU. I want to say that thanks to TSTU, I tried myself in many activities, met many people, but most importantly, I was even more convinced that I made the right choice by enrolling in this university, that I would get the best knowledge.

How I became a TSTU student

My name is Vladimir, I'm 18 years old, and I'm a student of the best university in the world – Tambov State Technical University. More than half a year ago I graduated from school and entered this university. Now I study oil and gas engineering and dream to become an engineer for gas and oil pipelines maintenance.

All my life I have been attracted to a career of an engineer. In my early childhood I dreamed of becoming a nuclear physicist, in my youth I wanted to be a geodesist, but finally I chose the profession of an oil and gas engineer. Already in 10th grade I finally decided on my future profession and began to look for an institute where I could study this specialty. I was immediately interested in TSTU. At this university there was a huge number of budgetary places. This fact could not but rejoice. Since 10th grade, I attended absolutely all open houses in TSTU and each time I learned something new and interesting. Passing examinations, I, without any hesitation, immediately applied at TSTU.

Becoming a student, I got into a friendly and cohesive team. I like my university professors and I get knowledge and skills for my future profession with great pleasure. Today I am very proud to be a student of this wonderful university.

My favourite teacher

I study at the TSTU Multidisciplinary College. There are many teachers there, but my favourite is Svetlana Vladimirovna Meshcheryakova. She is a very interesting person and lecturer. The accessible presentation of the material and the interactive nature of the classes made her a great teacher for me. My classmates can listen to her for hours.

Svetlana Vladimirovna is a psychologist and jurist with vast experience. She is professor of psychology and labor law. She knows many fascinating stories that relate to mental health problems. I think anyone listening to her for the first time will be surprised by her manner of speaking and lack of a negative atmosphere. During her time as a clinical psychologist she has helped many people to cope with their problems, so it can't help but be admired and proud of her.

In psychology classes, Svetlana Vladimirovna personally helped me to realize my internal problems and ways to solve them. She also taught us labour law. This is a very important branch of jurisprudence. Thanks to her, many students became interested in this branch. Without a doubt, all the learned material will be useful to us in life. I am sure that Svetlana Vladimirovna is a strong and intelligent woman, and I respect her very much.

The brightest day of my student life

After graduation, I faced a global question: which university to enroll in? If I decided on the technical direction during my years of study at school, then it was more difficult to choose a university. I have repeatedly heard about TSTU from friends and acquaintances, about what an active life is boiling at the university. As a result, I became one of his students.

At the moment, I am studying at TSTU for only the second year, but the diversity of student life never ceases to amaze. I am happy to communicate with students of different courses and specialties, all the guys are very versatile. I have already managed to take part in the "kapustnik" with a collective dance (with which we took 1st place), in swimming competitions with prize results, and in some other events. But the brightest and most memorable for me was the day of the performance at the beauty, grace and creativity contest "Miss TSTU." This is a very sweet and touching event, so I could not ignore it in any way.

The day started with a trip to a beauty salon. All the girls there have transformed into real beauties, starting with makeup and ending with a hairstyle. We have been preparing several fashion shows for two months. An appropriate image was provided for each output. The swimsuit competition was no exception. I waited with great impatience for the evening and the start of the event. Everything was very dynamic and exciting. I was awarded the diploma of the winner of the contest in the nomination "Miss Grace." I was satisfied with the result, and most importantly, that I took part in this incredibly beautiful event. All the participating girls received certificates and memorable gifts from various sponsors and directly from the university with its symbols. After the end of the contest, we take a photo near the thematic banner, and then, when the audience dispersed, our entire team of participants stayed with the head to drink tea with cake. We discussed the details of what was happening for a long time and shared our impressions. It was an amazing day!

The University provides an opportunity for all students to realize their inner potential not only in the educational field. I would like to express my gratitude to the management and all the organizers of TSTU for their tirelessness and diversity of all the events organized, for such a friendly and active team. I am very glad that there is a real opportunity to prove myself in various directions, and most importantly, to combine this with good and excellent academic performance.
